

ARGIANO
CANTINA DAL 1580

Recensioni

BRUNELLO DI MONTALCINO DOCG 2015

“This is a terrific wine and one of the new releases from Montalcino that I happily include in a short list of top recommendations. The Argiano 2015 Brunello di Montalcino shows a very lively bouquet that is already singing despite the young age of this new release. the wine opens to a dark ruby color with garnet highlights. The bouquet shows a large of wild berry, earth, licorice and medicinal herbs aromas. This vintage also reveals a pretty floral character with dried rose potpourri and lavender buds. After fermentation the wine is aged slowly for 30 months in large oak botte (including 10-, 30- and 50 hl capacity) thus restricting oxygen and gently slowing its evolution. However the 2015 vintage is naturally expressive and exuberant, and that’s the main takeaway here”.

95+/100 Wine Advocate, Monica Larner

“Very floral on the nose with plums, rose petals and freshly sliced porcini mushrooms. The palate is tight and compressed with beautiful ripe fruit, wet earth and cool stone flavors. A structure and impressive wine. Drink after 2022”.

95/100 James Suckling

“Focused cherry and plump flavors mark this rich red with a hint of orange peel. Flashes of earth, leather and iron lend complexity while the firm structure adds grip. Exhibits fine balance and length. Given the fruit, this should be approachable soon. Best from 2022 through 2037”.

93/100 Wine Spectator, Bruce Sanderson

“The 2015 Brunello di Montalcino shows dusty black cherry, completed by sweet spices and herbs, as hints of dried orange, leather and dusty earth that forward. On the palate, I find velvety textures, ushering in ripe red and black fruits; yet there’s a wonderful balance here, as the wine is lifted by brisk acids, and a mix of savory, spice and mineral notes. The finish is long and structured, buzzing with mouthwatering acid and spice, as dried cherry lingers amidst coating of youthful tannin. The 2015 Argiano is just a baby, slowly shaking off the wood it was aged in, and it is perfectly balanced”.

93/100 Vinous, Eric Guido

“...Il Brunello 2015 si presenta in forma smagliante: naso di susina e lampone, con chiusura di alloro, bocca di spessore, elegante, con tannini sapidi e finale balsamico”.

95+/100 L. Gardini, Forbes

97/100 & Best in Show Medal, Decanter World Wine Awards

94/100 Wines Critic

16.5/20 Jancis Robinson

92/ 100 Falstaff

Rosso - The Wine Hunter Award